*Meets the following mandated training requirements:
Introductory Mental Health Awareness and Procedural Justice*

Instruction by: Silouan Green <https://www.silouan.com/> graduated from Vanderbilt University in 1991 and then accepted a commission in the United States Marine Corps. While serving in the Marines, Silouan was involved in a jet training accident. In the ejection, Silouan's back was broken and his co-pilot tragically killed. This horrible event and the complications that followed led to the development of Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD). He was disability discharged and had to learn to put his life back together. It began with a two-year motorcycle journey where he learned to live.

Silouan instructs on Responding to PTSD and Officers in Crisis, Overcoming Adversity, and Foundational Leadership. He teaches people to become leaders in all aspects of their lives and to use the trials and transitions we all face as fuel to live free and lead with purpose. He has taught around the country at places such as Walter Reed Medical Center in Washington D.C., Fort Campbell in Kentucky, and Camp Lejeune in North Carolina. He has trained thousands of police officers and first responders from hundreds of law enforcement agencies, as well as mental health professionals, private corporations, non-profit organizations and major universities. Silouan is a dynamic speaker. His presentations are focused on delivering solid information and practical tools for living and leading. He provides a broad perspective that officers find refreshing, educational, and inspirational.

Course content:

- This two-day course will be a comprehensive survey of peer support, the development of PTSD and suicidal ideations, leadership, and responding to citizens and co-workers impacted by life trauma. The objective is to provide tools attendees can implement to create a strong culture of response, resiliency, and leadership.

Upon completion participants will be able to:

- Develop a core competency of leadership skills.
- Learn tools for clearer communication and instructions with those impacted by trauma.
- Understand the development of trauma including PTSD and suicidal ideations.
- Create and chart leadership vision and course of accountability.
