Prerequisites Required for Enrollment

The Patrol Rifle Instructor class is not a beginner's course. It is not designed to teach students new to the operation of the patrol rifle. The content of this class is structured to qualify you to instruct others.

Students must have completed a patrol rifle end user course and be proficient with the functioning and use of the patrol rifle. Additional rifle training courses and personal practice will aid your success in this class.

All students will be required to complete an initial qualification shoot on the first day of class. Students will be given two chances to successfully pass this shoot. Those who fail to pass will be dismissed from the course.

We strongly encourage you to practice this course of fire prior to the class.
