MTU#10 is happy to announce we have partnered with Caliber Press for our 2025 Fall Summit. The focus of this year's conference will be to provide officers with the skills needed to recognize and interpret the behaviors of people they encounter. This benefits officer safety with respect to identifying potential pre-attack behaviors and deception, as well as recognizing potential opportunities for de-escalation. The first day of the summit focuses on reading and interpreting the behaviors of people; the second day emphasizes communication and de-escalation skills.

Day #1: Reading People; Decoding Body Language and Criminal Behaviors

Day #1 discusses how to assess the emotional and physical state of a person. Are they dangerous? Are they in need? Are they emotionally or physically in crisis. Are they perpetrators or victims? The focus is on developing the ability to read people which can facilitate controlling, redirecting and influencing their behavior. Reading People allows officers to better evaluate body language by accurately reading conscious and unconscious cues, spotting lies and detecting true deception.

Day #2: Tactical Communication for the Street Officer

Day #2 focuses on advanced communication skills, conflict resolution and de-escalation tactics. Officers will learn how to interact, read people, predict behavior, de-escalate and resolve conflict. Many principles of this program are based on Lt. Jim Glennon's Best Selling Book, "Arresting Communication: Essential Interaction Skills for Law Enforcement". Glennon will discuss the truths of human interaction, the stages of interaction, tactical considerations, and recognizing opportunities to mitigate use of force.
